"THE WAY IN WHICH FURNITURE WILL BE USED WITHIN AN ENVIRONMENT IS AS IMPORTANT AS THE DESIGN OF THE OBJECT ITSELF. IN THE MODERN WORKPLACE, EVERY SPACE NEEDS TO FOSTER COLLABORATION. THE LUMEN TABLE SYSTEM WAS DEVELOPED WITH THIS IN MIND."

BRIAN GRAHAM

“Conceived as a set of highly flexible and functional tools, Lumen supports the needs of a workplace in constant transition. Inherent in the design is a lightness in scale and ease of mobility that make Lumen highly adaptable,” designer Brian Graham explains. Lumen’s lightweight aluminum bases and lean top surfaces make it a nimble and responsive furniture system for every type of work environment. Crafted almost entirely from recycled or recyclable materials, the Lumen system includes tables in desk, standing and occasional heights; lowboy and highboy storage credenzas; work carts; and mobile easels, all protected by Geiger’s 12-year warranty.

LUMEN TABLE SYSTEM BY BRIAN GRAHAM

California native Brian Graham cites 20th century masters Richard Neutra and Charles Eames among key influences. Best known for designing casegoods and office furniture systems, Graham consults across all creative disciplines, crafting integrated programs for clients. He defines his role as creative strategist as well as designer. “You need a bit of peripheral vision to integrate the elements that impinge upon design: markets, technology, culture, the human factor,” he says.
